About the Programme

This webinar with Ms S.Sulianah – The Graphologist and founder of Grapholistic International and Grapholistic Personality Training and Development, aims to advance on the study of human behaviour and integrating one of the tools in practicing human resource management. This programme will look into strategies on how to select the correct employee for your organisation.

The seminar will give guides on how to start selecting the suitable employee by understanding their character through their handwriting. We will go through in detail on the process starting from the start of the interview when candidate write on the job application form, asking the correct interview questions based on your analysis from their handwriting, analysing body language, and the backend selection process.

Areas of subjects to be covered:

- Interview and Selection Process and how to read the handwriting of the candidates
- Understand the basics in the science of analysing handwriting
- Identify the traits based on the job roles and responsibilities
- The interview questions based on the analysis
- Challenges in implementing this process
- How to decide for your organisation

Participants who attend the webinar will be awarded with Certificate of Completion by Grapholistic International.
